Green New Color For 4c Kossuth

After further study and review, the Post Office Department has decided that the 4c value of the Lajos Kossuth "Champion of Liberty" pair will be printed in green instead of ochre as originally announced. Green, a predominant color in Hungarian symbols, denotes hope.

The 8c denomination of the set will be in the usual red, blue, and ochre. Both stamps will be first released September 19 in Washington.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has disclosed that the portrait of Kossuth used for the stamps was based on a daguerreotype taken in 1852 by M. Kecskemethy, 1111 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W., Washington, D. C. It was furnished by Kossuth House, 1801 P Street, N.W., in Washington.

Additional information, and of a contradictory nature, concerning the origin of this 106-year-old Kossuth photograph is set forth in his column by Belmont Faries, Washington "Star Times" stamp editor. He states that although the photographic print carries a credit to "M. Kecskemethy, 1109 - 1111 Penna. Ave., Washington, D. C.," the picture probably was not taken in Washington.

Mr. Kecskemethy is reported to have built up a successful business through sales of pictures printed from plates of a Boston photographer. The portrait apparently was made during Kossuth's visit to Boston in April 1852, Mr. Faries concludes.

Egypt To Reissue One Stamp And Add Three

The Egyptian Postal Authority has announced that the current 5 mils value is to be reissued with the added inscription UAR (of the United Arab Republic).

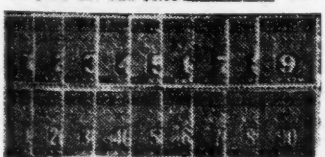

Another 35m. regular will be issued later in August, with 15 and 50m. airmails later in the year, and "the rest of the ordinary and airmail sets ... in 1959."

THE COLUMNS, UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI, are something of a trade mark of the institution. On the center of the main campus, they are the remains of the administration building which was burned some 50 years ago. They are featured in the official FDC cachet and in the FD cancel.

School Of Journalism Bases "Learn By Doing" Curriculum On Solid Academic Foundation

One of the most unusual educational institutions in the United States, the world's oldest school of journalism still follows the successful formula under which it began operation fifty years ago at the University of Missouri; i.e., the maintenance of a healthy academic balance between those liberal arts and professional courses which best provide a sound 4-year college education for aspiring young journalists.

As a bronze plaque on the Columbia, Mo., campus testifies, Missouri's was the first journalism school in the world. While other colleges and universities established various courses or chairs in journalism earlier, it was at Missouri on September 15, 1908, that the first journalism class met in its own professional school under its own divisional dean.

Bristling opposition greeted the new school. Both students and faculty members in other divisions of the University took the haughty attitude that there were still some doubts as to the legitimacy of its academic birth.

Perhaps more damaging were the sour comments of some Missouri newspaper editors who grumbled that, "Like poets, editors are born, not made."

However, the school had the complete support of the Missouri Press Assn. It could also point to the National Editorial Assn. 1904 approval of Joseph Pulitzer's offer of $2 million for the endowment of a school of journalism at Columbia University. Unable to get the money until after Pulitzer's death, Columbia had to wait until 1912 to launch its school of journalism. By that time, Missouri's was in its fourth year of successful operation and had a journalism enrollment of 130 students.

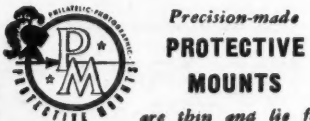

Final acceptance of the radical notion of teaching journalism in (Continued on page 19)

FD At Columbia, Mo. To Note 50th Anniversary Of World's First School Of Journalism

The 4c Journalism and Freedom of the Press commemorative stamp, to be placed on first day sale September 22 at Columbia, Mo., will be printed in black and arranged vertically in sheets of 50. The adhesive, measuring 0.84 by 1.44 inches, features a hand holding an old fashioned quill pen, a simplified stylization of a hand printing press, and horizontal and vertical bars suggesting type bearers. The words "Freedom of the Press" are included in the design, with "U. S. Postage 4c" arranged horizontally across the bottom of the stamp.

Columbia, Mo. is the home of the world's first School of Journalism, founded in September 1908 as part of the University of Missouri. The dedication of the new stamp will be one of the events of a year-long program marking the golden anniversary of its School of Journalism.

The stamp was designed by Lester Beall and Charles Goslin. Mr. Beall, who was born in Kansas City, Mo., received a Ph. B. in the History of Art from the University of Chicago, and has played an important part in the pioneering of modern design in advertising art. He has lectured and written articles on design and has received numerous awards. Mr. Goslin, his associate, is a Bachelor of Fine Arts graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design.

Topicalists and even the casual collector of U. S. issues will find in this 4c Journalism and Freedom of the Press stamp an in-circles for his superb Roosevelt Memorial collection, will lecture

 fore the Central Jersey Cover Club

East Germany Has Four New Issues

August 7 was the day of issue for a pair of commemoratives which the East Zone of Germany released in honor of Jan Comenius (Jan Amos Komensky). He is known as an educational reformer, a person who because of his beliefs had difficulties with government officials and religious authorities.

Comenius was born at Ungarisch-Brod, Moravia in 1592. After ordination to the Moravian ministry he went to England with his ideas. In that country, from which he was ousted, he had violent differences with the established officials. In Sweden, where he went next, there was an almost similar occurrence. His stormy career ended in 1670.

The 10pf. in green and black has a bust portrait of Comenius.
 On the 20pf. red brown and black is a schoolroom scene where he is shown teaching.

Printing was by offset. The artwork is by Ingeborg Friebe of Berlin.

Also on August 7 came two semipostals which marked the 10th anniversary of the Pioneer Youth Organization. These were printed by offset in two designs the work of Horst Kleopfel of Potsdam-Babelsberg.

The 10pf.+5pf. green shows a bugler, a campsite and pennant; 20pf.+10pf. red pictures young Pioneers with the Organization's flag.

Coming from East Germany on August 19 is a pair to note the 400th anniversary of the Founding of the Friedrich Schiller University in Jena. A 5pf. gray and black reproduces the seal of the university while the 20pf. red and gray reproduces a university building.

Designs are the work of Engelbert Schoner of Weimar. Offset was the printing process.

Another pair of commemoratives is planned for August 29.
 On that date comes the annual Leipzig Fall Fair set. This year they bear art conceived by Harry Priess of Schoeniche near Berlin.

A lady with a Hamster fur coat is seen before the main railway station at Leipzig on the 10pf.
 green and brown. Another fur-coated woman, this one in Caracul, is shown before the Old Leipzig City Hall on the 25pf. blue and black.

Odd Use Of Common Stamps Being Noted

The three country articles in the July "Collectors Club Philatelist" are on Austria, Canada and French Colonies. Edwin Mueller's "Pre-Stamp Postmarks" and Robert G. Stone's "French Colonies, The General Issues" continue parts previously run.
 E. A. Smythies offers more on Canadian Duplex cancellations.

A new column is inaugurated,
 "Uncommon Uses of Common Stamps". It will feature covers showing scarce usage of stamps that do not catalog at a high price. A 6c and 7c combination of the U.S. 1873 Banknote issue is described in this number.

Several interesting editorials on current collecting trends and an inquiry upon "What Are First Day Covers" also are included.
 Serious book reviews, evaluating some of the current handbooks, round out this number. Copies are $2 postpaid from The Collectors Club, 22 E. 35th St., New York 16, N. Y.

Frank Warner Dies On European Trip

Frank Warner, who with his son Walter operated a stamp store at 109 Nassau St., New York City, died suddenly in Europe where he had been visiting various countries on a combined vacation and buying trip.

Mr. Warner was well known to readers of Linn's since for the past few years, in collaboration with Walter, he had been writing the "British Empire Review" appearing weekly. He had also authored other stories some of which were printed in this paper, and some in publications abroad.

Business will be suspended for a short time after which the Warner staff will handle the accumulated correspondence and orders.
 Business will then continue as usual under Walter Warner's direction. He has been with his father in the firm for a number of years and is well versed in all its phases.

Big Field Overlooked By Dealers

Stamp dealers, like any other business firms that work a Mail Order field, are always looking for new names, new replies to their advertising. The big national magazines are filled with all kinds of contests, puzzles and games that require a mail answer. Why have stamp dealers not worked out a contest or a puzzle of some sort that can be answered by mail?

GEORGE W. LINN

Stamp collectors are little different from other people and most folks enjoy a puzzle or contest of some nature. Handling one by mail is a very good way to get hundreds, perhaps thousands of replies and thus a mailing list of fresh names. About a year ago I printed a contest in this column and it brought hundreds of answers. Now again in our issue of August 4, I used a puzzle letter that was taken from an old F. Trifet catalogue of 1879. On August 1, I received 38 replies to this editorial and on August 2, the number had gone far above the 100 mark and remember that the paper is dated for August 4, which is the Monday following. For one thing this speaks well for the P. O. Department handling of our paper as this August 4 edition was printed on the evening of July 28, starts into the mails on July 29, and was all mailed by July 31. Getting replies the next day from Louisiana, the farthest state for the first day is quite a feat and by the second day we had replies from over a dozen different states including most of New England and many from the far west. As the replies are just starting to come we have no idea how many will be received but know it will run into several hundred, perhaps well over 1000. Thus this is a way that a smart stamp dealer can get a lot of replies which means new names, run a puzzle contest of some nature.

However, before you attempt this check with the Post Office Department. Give them a complete plan of what you propose to do and get their O.K. before you start as there are certain regulations which you must conform to in any contest through the mails. If you fail to check with the P. O. Department or a good lawyer you can get into trouble and your entire effort will fail and your time will be wasted.

Everyone loves a puzzle or a contest of some nature and this is a field that has never been worked much by the stamp dealers. One good idea is to have some Cross Word Puzzle expert prepare a Philatelic Cross Word Puzzle and run that. It will bring a large number of entries and can be worked out so that there will be pleasing results.

How To Drive Customers Away

We receive here in Howey quite a few letters of which the one below is quite typical. We wonder why stamp dealers will spend money for advertising, to get new customers, especially a customer who is ready to spend money as this one was, and then to deliberately treat them as this customer was treated. If I were the man I would never again spend a cent with the dealer who handled the order. We have advised him what to do to get satisfaction, but that is not the point. A dealer who will do what has been done here is wasting his money in advertising if he will not cater to the customers in every way possible. A customer who is willing to spend this kind of money is worth caring for. Due to this letter we want to request that if anyone else has a complaint of this nature that they send it direct to our office in Sidney. Do not send it to me in Florida. I have no business office records here and am not in a position to give these complaints their proper handling. Send them to Sidney where the records are kept. They can and will advise you properly and will also take the matter up with the dealer concerned.

Now here is what happened. This collector in New York state sent a request with a U. S. Money Order on April 7, for $57.61. Again on April 18 he sent an additional order for $65.70. That makes a total of $123.31. As of July 6, the date on which he wrote me his letter he had received just $58.00 worth of stamps, leaving a balance due him of $65.31. Consider that this was a matter of two and a half months after he had sent his orders and in the meantime he had written four or five letters to the dealer demanding the rest of the stamps due him or a cash refund for the balance of his money. The dealer failed to send the stamps or to refund his money or to even write a letter and make any excuse for his inattention.

Such business methods are outrageous and should not be practiced by anyone, especially a dealer who depends on his business from replies to his advertising. How can anyone hope to build up a good line of customers operating in this manner? The only solution I can figure is that there must be a lot of stamp dealers who are very poor business men and that leads me to think that if any stamp dealer would build a reputation on filling orders within 24 hours and refunding immediately for anything he can not fill at once and then advertise this fact and concentrate heavily on making happy and satisfied customers that this dealer could build an excellent business. The old adage, "The customer is always right", is something that the stamp dealers, such as the one described in this instance, have never heard of.

Howey Post Office Robbed

On Saturday Night, August 2 the small post office here in Howey was broken into and about $200 stolen. A couple other places were also entered and small thefts made. The next day two or three F.B.I. agents were here bent on a thorough investigation. How quick the F.B.I. will act when a government post office is robbed and perhaps a few stamps stolen. On the other hand a stamp collector's home can be entered, or a lot of stamps stolen from a show, stamps worth ten or twenty thousand dollars, and the F.B.I. seems powerless to catch and punish this kind of stamp operator. Ever since the theft of the Gerber and Hindes stamps there has been a rumor here in Florida that someone with high political connections has been the master mind behind a lot of the stamp thefts. Can it be that such rumors are true? People who have handled stamps from recent thefts know from whom they bought the stolen goods and as yet we have never heard of any of these people being locked up as an accessory to the theft and sale of the stamps. And the buyers have never made public the names of these middlemen who marketed the stolen stamps. Stealing stamps must be a lucrative and safe business.

ATA "Topical Time" Offers Sample Copies

Inaugurating a new policy, the American Topical Assn. has announced that sample copies of "Topical Time", the society's attractive bimonthly journal will again be available to topical collectors at a nominal charge of 25c each.

When the ATA was first formed in 1949, sample copies of the tiny 8 to 12 page issue were freely distributed to interested collectors. As the magazine grew rapidly in size and the cost of heavy slick paper, many illustrations, and printing climbed, the ATA was forced to discontinue this policy.

Now, with almost 5000 members the per copy printing cost of the magazine has been reduced considerably. Issues have been averaging 48 pages each, filled with 15 to 20 different topical articles and checklists, all well illustrated covered per issue.

Sample copies will be limited to one per person and, as the demand for specific issues is heavy, such requests cannot be honored. Collectors may send 25c in coin to the American Topical Assn., 1602 Wells St., Milwaukee 3, Wis. for a sample copy of Topical Time.

CARL P. RUETH

I think many of you will regret to hear that Fred Barovick, president of the Society of Philatelic Americans, has had to undergo surgery for the removal of an eye. It had been originally injured when Fred was the victim of an uncautious driver in an automobile accident which had him in and out of the hospital for many months. The docs just couldn't save the eye.

He will probably be home by the time you read this at 951 Carroll St., Brooklyn 25, N. Y.

It won't tax his strength or vision to read Get Well Cards or a few lines of cheer from his friends and well-wishers. Need I say more?

1. Some persons were pictured in the designs of both the Presidential and Liberty series for regular postage. Which ones appear in the Liberty and did not in the Presidential?

2. One Famous American type commemo was issued in 1954. Whom did it honor?

The Anchorage, Alaska Philatelic Society is campaigning for a commemorative for the coming statehood celebrations. They'd like to see the Alaskan flag coupled with the United States one, in full colors. If this seems acceptable to you, say so to the Stamp Advisory Committee, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C.

It will take a while before the new postal rates become second nature to all of us. You might begin to remember, however, that the 3c value will be the one of which we will see less and less as the weeks go by for it will now have as small a usage as did the 4c. The 4c is now, of course, the "big boy" of stamp production and will become as increasingly common and scorned as the Liberty 3c, and Jefferson 3c (of the Presidentials).

Also on the way to rapid obsolescence are the 6c airmail, and the 4c air. Incidentally, this latter value is no longer on sale at the Philatelic Agency. Neither is the flat press 8c Liberty. Commems taken off sale on July 31 include the Atoms For Peace, Wheatland and Devils Tower.

Once again I urge you folks to get your requirements as soon as stamps are issued. There is no doubt that some got caught short on the items mentioned above just because they procrastinated. The only place you might find them is in the stock of post offices here and there and that means hunting - hunting via your car, on your time, with some disappointing aggravations. Awful expensive way to "buy stamp at face"!

According to the Agency's current list, still available are the 1955 8c Rotary Club, the 1956 Washington, Food and Drug, Nassau Hall, Salmon, and Children's Friendship, and all issues after. A copy of the list, which gives directions for placing orders at face and payments, can be obtained by directing a request for it, accompanied with a stamped (4c) addressed envelope, to the Philatelic Agency, Post Office Department, Washington 25, D. C.

I would like to caution you to not use the "Stamp Program", usually found on page 4, for the full information you need for getting first day covers. Always read the news stories for such things for in them are contained all the directions.

A number of people were disappointed in the recent spurge of new items released July 31 and August 1. As for instance, it was specifically stated that the booklet stamps would only be used in full panes of six on covers. Many sent payment for a single stamp only.

Others who wanted the new 5c airmail on an envelope instead of a postal card, sent only enough cash for one stamp. The airmail rate was then 6c for sealed envelope, first class mail, so the postmaster of the first day city sent the covers back as underpaid. This was all explained in the aforementioned news articles.

Some were left out because they sent only 7c each for the new 7c airmail envelope. Now that seems logical, but the POD specifically stated that in small quantities each envelope would cost 8c. In lots of 100 or more they came to $7.68 per hundred. Those of you who are prone to such troubles should lay the article to one side until you are ready to send away for your wants, and then follow instructions given, to the letter. Don't depend on your memory - you get stuck most of the time if you do.

Three persons very generously remembered me with souvenir programs of the first day of issue of recent new stamps, Guy Stoms of Naranja, Fla. provided that prepared for the release of the 7c airmail coil at Miami, Fla. Belmont Faries of Washington, D. C. sent his personal copy of the elaborate one prepared for the debut of the Bolivar set. J. E. Catudal of Wichita, Kans. made a presentation of a program which had been prepared for the 5c airmail postal card at Wichita.

All of them are nicely done and most worthy of places in my growing collection of such material.

Few communities have the opportunity to use existing stamps for a local celebration. An instance of such a fortunate coincidence is provided with a cover sent by Fred A. Petersen of Wheatland, Iowa. The town celebrated its centennial August 1 to 3 - they used a slogan die in the post office.

Mr. Petersen used one of the Wheatland commems and one of the Iowa Centennial of Statehood of 1946 to make a tidy little cover.

You moviegoers will probably remember the 2 minutes a recent Fox Movietone News devoted to the new postal rates and the stamps which tie in. If the narrator's voice seemed to be familiar, your ears were not deceiving you.

It was that of Ernest A. Kehr, stamp editor of the New York Herald Tribune. Mr. Kehr is a well-known world traveler, lecturer, news correspondent, and most fortunate for readers of Linn's, a frequent feature article writer for this paper. He has been guest editor of the Netherlands special edition of last December and for the Egyptian one of July 21.

You folks with the new 3c Liberty postal card might check them closely. Thomas F. McGrath of Albany, N. Y. has shown me one in which the "I" was missing from the "In" of "In God We Trust".

He found it in a batch of 500 which had been purchased for a special mailing assignment. It can be spotted easily.

Alfred Roman of Philadelphia tells me of some unusual postal cards, the new 3c Liberty, out of the ordinary because of a little carelessness and misunderstanding in the Philly post office.

You will remember that the new 7c airmail stamp had its release in Philadelphia on July 31, and the 3c postal card on August 1. The postal clerks sold the respective items on the proper days. However, on August 1, the card day, the clerks had the JULY 31 FIRST DAY OF ISSUE handstamp still with them which was used for the 7c stamp's first day. They used this for a half hour approximately, from 9 to 9:30 a.m. on some of the 3c cards. Then the error was caught.

Only about 200 cards were so marked. Of special note is the fact that no handstamp had been prepared for the cards since the regulations did not provide for that kind of treatment. So you have two "can't be" facts - a handstamp where none existed, and first day cancel on a day when it didn't happen!

The U. S. Post Office Department will operate a temporary postal station at the 25th annual convention of the Trans-Mississippi Philatelic Society September 26-28 at Council Bluffs, Iowa. A special handstamp will be applied to mail at the postal station in the Hotel Chieftain convention headquarters.

Between 200 and 250 frames of stamps will be on display during the three-day exhibition which will be open free of charge to the public. One of the features will be a 25c inverted center 1918 U. S. airmail stamp. Ownership of the stamp is not disclosed.

The auction scheduled for 7 p. m. the 26th will include some lots from the collection of the late Stanley Ashbrook, noted philatelic writer and authority on U. S. stamps.

Airlines And Philately-- The Air France Story

Julius Weiss

(All Rights Reserved)

There are today many airlines which do much for the philatelic world. They go out of their way to create special cacheted envelopes, special back stamps, and other things of philatelic concern. Some lines commemorate new issues of adhesives with special flights to carry special mail. It is time for the philatelic world to show some recognition to these lines.

Today we begin a series pertaining to the philatelic aspects and the routes, craft, and other facts about some of the major as well as the smaller lines which aid us in our hobby of aerophilately.

Should readers desire further data they may send a stamped addressed envelope to us for the address of the line. Further, they should not approach the lines with requests for this or that past flight cover. They do not stock this material, since once a "first flight" is over it is history. They will, however, be glad to send maps, rates and other data should the stamp collector desire such information.

It is not within the realm of this series to mention all the particular flight covers created by a given line nor is it within its scope to try to ascertain values of the assorted flight material of the various lines. With these introductory remarks, we continue now with The Air France Story:

While looking through a batch of flight covers recently the writer noticed a rather interesting one addressed to Negropo, New Caledonia. It had a black cachet, "Premiere Liaison-Air France-Paris-Tahiti". Dated March 27, 1950 the back stamp is "Noume-Nelle Caledonie".

Yes, this item started us on the way toward the Air France story, for there must truly be a story about any airline which would accord full philatelic treatment to mail destined for this remote section of the world.

Today it is a simple experience to see a plane take off from Orly Airport (Paris) for French West Africa or perhaps Switzerland, or Austria or the USA, for the Air France system has passenger service to the major cities of the globe.

Direct service from America takes passengers to Rome, Tel Aviv, Istanbul, Beirut, and other cities of the world. For the traveler interested in the more exotic places of the globe, Air France has facilities to such places as Lome, Ouagadougou and Ziguinchor.

The swift dependable service of Air France now covers even the polar region. For business or pleasure travelers can now enjoy the central Atlantic route Paris-Bogota of Air France which now includes Quito, Ecuador and Lima, Peru.

"Air France, the Worlds Largest Airline", will presently have a route network totaling 188,000 miles, serving some 222 cities in 76 countries. Thanks are due this line for making it possible for stamp collectors to obtain sou-

Not yet in passenger service is this highly advanced 33-ton "Caravelle" jet with the unusual arrangement of its twin-pod Rolls-Royce "AVON" reactors. It now carries a 28,500-lb. payload of freight; after thorough breaking in and testing, this type aircraft will be used by Air France for passenger traffic next year.

Europe. Jet Caravelles are transporting cargo to many far-off points on the globe and in the not-to-distant future they will carry passengers.

The Caravelle jet is a 33-ton airliner with twin-pod reactors powered by Rolls Royce Avon jet engines. It has a range of 1500 miles and will accommodate 28,500 pounds of freight (passengers will be carried via jet in 1959).

The Philatelic service of Air France is outstanding. All first flights on which it is possible to extend philatelic services get the "full treatment". Most of the Air France cachets are fine, colorful, descriptive bits of the various historical flights.

The line tends to see that mail is back stamped at destination and many of the flights are given advance notice in the philatelic press. In addition, the travel sections of the large city newspapers give many details pertaining to "first" or contemplated "firsts" of Air France sponsoring.

A great historical event took place on April 10, when Air France flew the first commercial service on the Polar route between Paris and Tokyo. The line's Super Starliner service is the fastest direct flight between the two cities, with a scheduled flying time of 27½ hours. West-bound, it is 30 hours and 10 minutes.

The Polar route covers 4,772 miles from Paris to Anchorage Alaska and 3,663 miles from Anchorage to Tokyo, the total distance being 1,040 miles shorter than the traditional Air France route via India and the Far East.

Air France operates a station in Anchorage, Alaska. This is the farthest north of any of the line's installations along the world's largest route network. The first Air France craft, a Super Starliner to land at the station did so in January 1958. This was a stop on the Polar survey flight. (It is not known at this time whether any philatelic mail was carried on this flight).

The flight of April 10 had full philatelic consideration with a cachet in black on the Paris dispatch and a fancy red one on the Tokyo sending. The legend reads "Ire Liaison Airienne Transpol-aire", plus the date and the wording "Paris-Tokio".

Many collectors remember the Air France flight of May 18, 1957, New York to Shannon. The line went all out on this one with a (Continued on page 23)

British Regionals Abound In Symbolism, Tradition; FD's August 18 And September 29

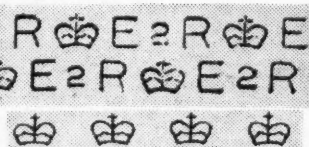

As is the custom with all British stamps, the head of the reigning monarch is the dominant feature in the designs of the "regional" stamps to be issued August 18 and September 29 for Wales and Monmouthshire, Scotland, Northern Ireland, Guernsey, Jersey, and the Isle of Man. The borders of the new adhesives, however, will bear symbols and designs appropriate to the countries and islands concerned.

Twelve different stamps are to be issued—3d, 6d and 1/3 each for Wales and Monmouthshire, Scotland, and Northern Ireland, and 3d only for Guernsey, Jersey, and the Isle of Man. All the 3d values will be put on sale August 18, with the 6d and 1/3 denominations coming September 29.

The newcomers will be on sale only over the counter in the areas which they represent, and, except in Monmouthshire, will replace the stamps of the existing permanent series in the appropriate denominations. In Monmouthshire the present 3d, 6d and 1/3 stamps will be available if they are specially requested.

The new adhesives will be valid throughout the United Kingdom for postage and revenue purposes in exactly the same way as the present ones are. They will be the same size and color as the present series: 3d, violet; 6d, purple; and 1/3, green.

The portrait of Queen Elizabeth II, common to all twelve, is that made by Dorothy Wilding Portraits, Ltd. which is used generally on the emissions of the British POD. The printing is by Harrison & Sons, Ltd. in sheets of 240. Booklets and coils are not being issued.

Old watermark, top, and new, below.

A new watermarked paper is being introduced with this series. Instead of the repeated "E2R" crown design, it shows only multiple small crowns. It will be introduced into all postage stamp production as stocks of existing paper are used up.

In selecting the symbols to be included in the new stamps, the artists to be invited and the designs to be used, the Postmaster General had the assistance of stamp advisory committees representing the areas involved.

The various stamps show, in addition to the Queen's portrait, other features and symbols as included by the designing artists:

All three for Wales and Monmouthshire were designed by Reynolds Stone. The 3d shows the Queen's portrait set in the heart of a leek, and the Welsh dragon.

The 6d shows the portrait above the dragon, with the "Postage Revenue" enclosed in two side panels. The value indication is at the left-hand bottom corner of the portrait. The 1/3 is almost identical.

The dragon has been used as an emblem in Welsh legend since earliest times and it appears to have been well-established before the time of heraldry. The leek is both a military and religious Welsh emblem.

The military tradition dates back to the battle of Crecy in 1346, when Welsh soldiers are believed to have worn "leeks in their Monmouth caps". In religion, the leek is associated with St. David, who is reputed to have been very fond of this vegetable. The 3d Scotland stamp, designed by Gordon F. Huntly, carries the portrait and two versions of Scottish national badges. On the left is the Saltire (St. Andrew's Cross) encircled by a Crown (Her Majesty's Saltire Badge). The Saltire is the statutory (1385) and duly registered identity badge of Scotland. On the right is the Crowned Thistle (Her Majesty's Royal Badge for Scotland).

The crown shown is a version of the Crown of Scotland; it shows the slightly dipped top seen in this crown at certain periods in the 17th century. The words "Postage Revenue" frame the Queen's portrait at the sides and the value indication is beneath.

The 6d, designed by J. B. Fleming, shows the portrait in a simple frame and flanked by strongly conventionalized Thistles of Scotland on a dark ground. "Postage Revenue" is in scrolls at the base of the frame, the value between them.

The 1/3, designed by A. B. Imrie, has two crowned and collared Unicorns to flank the Queen's head. Unicorns are the unique heraldic animal of Scotland and the one on the left supports a flag showing a lion rampant, Her Majesty's Scottish ensign, and that on the right a flag showing the St. Andrew's Cross. The flag tassels are in the form of thistles and the letters "ER" are above the Queen's portrait.

T. Collins designed the 1/3. It shows the portrait with a spray of flax and the Red Right Hand of Ulster in the left and right top corners respectively. Below the portrait is a stylized five-barred gate, supported by typical Ulster pillars.

The Red Right Hand of Ulster is commonly accepted as the badge of the Province of Ulster. Dating from ancient times this symbol was used in the seal of the O'Neills, Kings of Ulster, and today is incorporated in the arms of the province and in the arms of the government of Northern Ireland. The flax plant symbolizes Northern Ireland's connection with linen.

The whitewashed circular stone pillars of the field gate shown on the 1/3 have long been one of the characteristic features of the Ulster countryside. Their size is explained partly by the weight of the iron gates they carry and partly by the prestige attaching to them. The conical tops help to throw off the rain.

The 3d designed by E. A. Piprell for the Bailiwick of Guernsey shows the portrait with the crown of William the Conqueror and a stylized flower of the Guernsey lily below it.

The crown included in the design is taken from the silver penny of William I, Duke of Normandy, minted during the period 1069 to 1072; with its two arches and tassels it is quite distinctive.

The Guernsey lily (Nerine Sarniensis) has been associated with the island since the middle of the 17th century. It is said that the bulbs were washed ashore from a ship in distress and took root in the island—hence, the name "Nerine", a sea nymph, daughter of Nereus, and "Sarniensis", the old name for Guernsey.

As the stamp is not used for inland revenue purposes on the island, the word "Revenue" has been omitted. Similarly, the word is omitted from the adhesives for Jersey and the Isle of Man.

The stamp for Jersey was designed by William M. Gardner. It shows the portrait, the Royal Mace of Jersey, and the Coat of Arms of Jersey. Sprays of foliage are included to symbolize the island's agricultural interests.

The Royal Mace of Jersey was presented by King Charles II to Jersey in 1663. It is borne before (Continued on page 15)

EUROPA 1958

INVESTORS AND COLLECTORS TAKE NOTICE

It is my opinion that the 1958 EUROPA will bring prices of 1956, 1957 and Forerunners of EUROPA up even more than they are. Also due to the large demand a QUICK SELLOUT will occur of the '58 issues. It is no secret that the printings will be small in most countries and the demand is LARGER than ever. BE SMART—don't wait until after they are released, place your advance order NOW and really pay the "new issue price" not an inflated 100% or 200% over face.

Hawkes Bay Trio And Scouts Single Listed

Three stamps, 2, 3, and 8d, will be issued probably October 31 to commemorate the centennial of the province of Hawkes Bay, New Zealand according to the New Zealand Philatelic Bulletin. The 2d shows the "Pania" Statue on Marine Parade, Napier; 3d, Cape Kidnappers; and 8d, a Maori shearer at work.

A 3d will be issued January 5 to commemorate the Pan Pacific Scout Jamboree. The design will feature a special badge struck for the occasion. A special cancellation will be used on FDC's.

No provisions are mentioned for servicing covers on the Hawkes Bay set, but collectors may send their own covers for the Scout item plus 1d each service fee to the Chief Postmaster, Auckland, N. Z. to reach him not later than December 22. The outside envelope should be endorsed "Jamboree Covers". Remittances may be made by international money order, bank draft or certified check, and should include funds for three stamps per cover for surface mail to the U. S. as well as the service fee. The New Zealand shilling is 14c U. S.

Vermont Stampers To Exhibit At County Fair

The Rutland County Stamp Club of Rutland, Vt. will hold its annual show in conjunction with the Rutland County Fair, September 1-6. The stamp exhibition will consist of some 75 frames of widely representative material, plus a few frames of postcards.

As in the past, the club is offering a cacheted cover to note the occasion. The price of the 1958 item is 15c, two for 25c (coin), from L. E. Shoro, 92 Meadow St., Rutland, Vt. Mr. Shoro also has a few of last year's cachets left, at 10c each plus a large stamped addressed return envelope.

Dealer ★
★ Doings

E. J. Chambarlin, P. O. Box 906, Galveston, Texas has just issued the tenth edition of his specialized price list on the stamps of Australia. He shows a wide range of issues from No. 1 to date, both mint and used, at competitive prices. Rarer material not listed is usually available against want lists. General and specialist collectors should request his list.

It's a new, but not a replacement address for the Fairidge Stamp Co., Box 221, Ridgewood, N. J. Mail order operations will continue from the old box number, proprietor H. T. Niblette writes, but for the convenience of local and visiting stampers, the firm has opened a street floor location at 34 Chestnut St., Ridgewood. Old customers and visiting collectors are welcome.

Even people who live in California take vacations, reports Howard B. Stoddard, 204 Cornwall St., Salinas, Calif. "I'll be closed a while toward the end of August," he writes, "taking a combination vacation and buying trip. Soon as I return, I'll catch up fast on all mail and orders, and be back in business with choice offers in Japan, Korea, Manchukuo, and the Philippines."

Robert Haynes, veteran dealer of 2932 115th St., Toledo 11, Ohio, says that after a mere 55 years in the stamp game, he wants to ease off a little. So he has prepared an unusual wholesale list, No. 58-1, heavy in U. S. offers of the unusual, especially in used, with some interesting foreign lots. It is free to dealers in return for a 4c stamped, addressed envelope.

Medical Airmails Issued By Peru

Peru, a country which has relatively few new stamps, released a set of four airmail commemoratives on July 23. It is a tribute for the "First Centenary of Birth of Daniel Alcides Carrion Garcia". However, others are given some recognition.

According to Charles Ekker of Lima, Peru the three low denominations were produced in five colors each by lithography, the same for all, yellow, black, sepia, red and green. The high value is from an engraved plate in black. On the 60c is a portrait of the friar Martin de Porras; 1.20 Sols, portrait of Daniel Carrion; 1.50S., portrait of Hipolito Unanue; 2.20S., Facade of the old San Fernando Medical School.

Carrion is considered a martyr to Peruvian Medical Science. Unanue is a hero of the Wars of Independence, and Father of Peruvian Medicine; de Porras, claimed to be a miracle-worker, is the nation's patron saint of Social Justice and Pharmaceutical Chemists.

Other items in the designs of the three low denominations are a winged three-bladed propeller; Peruvian flag in colors; a purple flower; the Caduceus, and the local medical symbol.

Printing was at the German Federal Printing Works in Berlin.

Hail The Collector!

Joseph L. Briggs

I have read the article by John L. Briggs, Jr., in a recent issue of Linn's. Even if his name were not Briggs, I would have to agree with what he had put forth on paper.

My one fear in writing this is that it will not get to the people to whom it is aimed—those who are just starting and haven't even heard of Linn's. These are the ones who are most likely to fall into the pits presented by the so-called collectors.

In every article, catalog, house organ or you name it, the subject of joining a stamp club is brought out. While I belong to such, it is at these stamp clubs that I most often come to disagreement with my fellow collector.

The main point of disagreement is what and how to collect. I most often turn out to be the only general collector at these gatherings, and that makes me dirt under most of the feet.

What do I collect? STAMPS! One stamp, a set, part of a set—the only requirement that I put forth is that it resemble a stamp, has been or could be used to pay postage on a letter, and possibly be mentioned in Scott's catalogs.

The most frequent harangue comes with the collector who collects only in sets and these in super fine condition. This isn't a collection, it is an investment. The closest kin to this chap is the one who is buying stamps so that junior will be able to get a little money out of them when he gets older.

Maybe I'm selfish, but my stamp collecting is for my hobby. If, when I get too old to collect, junior is interested in stamps, he can have them. If he can get a little money out of them, he will most likely spend it on his hobby, a hot-rod or whatever the fad is then. For right now, I collect just as I, number one boy, want to collect.

I'm afraid that some of the items in my albums would be scorned by most collectors. If you were to thumb through the books, you would find quite a few stamps that should be in the waste basket. There are some with missing corners, heavy post marks, and some held together with stamp hinges.

I said that I collect stamps. If it comes to a choice as to whether or not I have a certain issue mainly because it is torn in half, it goes in the collection. If I don't have it, it is a thing of beauty regardless of condition. Now don't take me wrong; if I am buying a stamp, I won't buy one that is torn, but I have never turned down a gift because of condition.

How do you acquire stamps? Well, if your budget is in the same condition as mine, you don't buy too many. About the only ones I purchase are the new U. S., issues and these only in a copy or two of the mint variety. I'm snobbish about U. S. only, and that only in the new issues. All I have said before applies equally to this collection, even though I call this my specialty.

In the past few months I have been extremely fortunate. I have had three small collections given to me, and I traded some books for a fourth. In one of those given to me, I discovered the first three airmail issues of the U. S. Boy, was I excited! That was the first and only time such a thing happened to me.

It so happened that this particular collection came from a neighbor. When I told him of the value of these stamps, he was surprised, but said he wasn't interested in them. So, in order to repay him somewhat, he now borrows my power mower whenever he wants to cut his grass.

A glance through the classified ads right in this paper will show you a column marked "Exchange". By means of trade, it is possible to pick up a lot of material for your collection.

Of course, if you're like me, you may run into a little trouble finding someone who will trade, for most of my dupes are catalogued for the phenomenal sum of 2c and it is surprising how many are not interested in even looking at them. I know that most of the general collectors do not have all the 2c varieties, but are interested only when the catalogs shows 10c or more.

One little side issue that has been fascinating me recently is a new world map that I have mounted just above my desk where I work on my stamps. As I mount the stamps, I check the actual location of the country. It sure is surprising how I had changed the world. Some of the countries had been moved from where I thought they were.

Since some of the other things said here might appear odd, you might wonder how I mount my stamps. Basically my album is a three-ring loose-leaf binder. The pages are made of 50 to 100 lb. stock depending on what I happen to have at the time.

If I have enough of a set to warrant, I use a straight-edge and pen to make individual frames on the page for each stamp. I provide space for all and do the write-up by means of the old typewriter.

I do this, not because I am too tight to buy an album for the foreign, but because I don't like pictures of the stamps looking at me from the page. I prefer to see blank spots except where the stamps are.

One of the best returns I have gotten from stamp collecting is the one time I put my collection of postal cards on display. The stamp club had forgotten to arrange for someone to take of the monthly exhibit at the local library, and in desperation, called me to see if I had anything. I told them I'd put something in the case.

I had mounted the cards on light cardboard for my album page. I merely removed the pages from my album, inked an additional page with "Postal Cards of the United States - How Many Do You Remember?" No single display before or since has gotten the response from the people working at the library or using the library, much to the disgust of all the members of the stamp club.

This was not written with tongue—or tong—in cheek. It is an actual story of my stamp collecting. It will, maybe, show you that you don't have to follow a set of rules in order to collect stamps.

Me, I wouldn't change the way I collect for anything. It gives me hours of pleasure, no profit, just pleasure, and that is the definition of a hobby.

Cachet, Slogan Note City's 75th Jubilee

Riverside, Calif. will note its diamond jubilee later this year—October 1 is the anniversary date of its incorporation—and to note the event the Riverside Stamp and Coin Club will sponsor a cachet. Also, the post office will feature a slogan cancellation for a time.

The orange and red cachet will show the Indian rain cross, the symbol of the nuclear age, and oranges to represent the citrus fruit industry. Riverside is the home of the parent naval orange tree.

The club offers covers at 15c each, two for 25c, cacheted and posted on October 1. If the first day of use of the slogan is other than this date, covers will be serviced on that occasion as well. Collectors may order from Lorne L. Allmon, 6661 Phoenix Ave., Riverside, Calif., stating which date of service is desired.

The symbol, again in upper right, is reduced in size and contains only the Arabic words:

The Post Office Department, however, prepared a first day

This event included the release of a flock of white doves to symbolize the supremacy of peace

The A.U.B. is perhaps the finest institution of higher learning in the Arab world today, and

The stamps were used extensively on ordinary mail and sets should not be too difficult to complete in used condition.

Developing The Touch For Philatelic Treasure

Max Brainard

One thing leading to another, and usually downgrade, here's a splendid formula for doubly felonious burglary, especially where lovable and decrepit old ladies, properly accoutered, are within range. Sniff about your neighborhood for an old house, less than five stories high preferred, and provided with rearward facilities indicative of eras past. Tap lightly on the door, then leap aside, well clear, to avoid a possible scattergun blast just in case the occupant be a timid maid of some seventy hard winters who is taking a correspondence course guaranteed to supply a diploma exchangeable at par for a badge from J. Edgar H (the "H" being for "HIMSELF")!

If not atomized past redistricting, the next step is a stentorian (and preferably, by all means a diaphanous) blast "Hey You!"

(Don't, please don't lose courage with this script. It is being written with the kindest, most helpful philatelic intentions as sincere as the writer's admonition that nobody is asking anybody to read any further.)

When—and if—the door is opened a crack, go into a routine designed to attract and hold immediate attention, remembering the axiomatic value of first impressions. The routine may be making a series of distraught faces, a succession of animal sounds, or doing impressions of TV stars, or politicians delivering orations—in pantomime.

When tranquility seems manifest on the face of the intended victim and her interest aroused, scream loudly that you aren't a peddler of tickets or maternity insurance, or of can-openers, but that you wish to buy something which the lady has long ago forgotten and which can't be tucked into her apparently imminent coffin. This latter reminder is sure to mellow the old gal to the point where she'll probably develop lacrimose outbursts which is where you come in—figuratively and literally.

First, frisk the house for the time-honored bottle of smelling salts and if, in the frisking, you come upon anything more potent, mind your capacity and assure yourself of its therapeutic value, remembering, too, in a manner of speaking, that you are a guest and should be accorded guest privileges. After sampling, mebbe the old gal will join you in a wee drop or two, and things philatelic can wait for a less inopportune time.

Salts or spirits, now's the time to get down to business.

Does the old sister have tucked away in her attic any old correspondence, just any old thing which, for all she knows, might be consigned to the dump when her chiselling, grasping relatives come to snoop and fight over the spoils on their way home from the church—not having attended the interment as all decent folks are wont to do? You might even inject here the probability these here kinfolks will strip the joint so clean, that when her will is read, they won't even bother to attend, knowing how bare the bones shall already have been pared.

This and the resuscitant ought to put your hostess in a very mellow mood. But keep your feet on the ground, Bud, and don't trust the kick of the medicine you may have come upon.

If all goes well, one can whittle his hopes down to at least a look. Should that look pay off, even in a teeny-weeny bit, it should, by all gracious means, be adequately compensated for—not to the point of giving the old gal an idea she's in a lush pasture, but salt your enthusiasm in every case with a lot of "ifs" and "buts".

This attitude is essential preparation for what might follow. Possibly the material turned up will be puny, but at least a token payment should be offered. If accepted, even if in excess of known market values, just charge it up to advertising. Your guess is as good as the next guy's as to what, if anything, pans out.

(Having led you this far, from here on you're on your own as to how to get shut of this initial phase. By all means, leave the joint with a sweet and forgiving taste in the lady's mouth.)

Ergo!

Whether or no you made a haul; whether or no you have materially profited thereby, in due, gentlemanly course, return to the scene and make a graceful approach (not as before) but on the order of a repentant prodigal. Gain audience and make solicitations as to the old gal's health. Here let's zip on a proven formula to put any "Old Gal" into a mellow mood: if she's built like a bean pole remark on how well she's maintaining her shape, and if she's of "lighter-than-air" dimensions comment on her seeming slimmer than heretofore).

Anyhow, the meat of the conversation should develop a bone and sinew to the effect that you underestimated the actual value of the junk you had from her and that in the market place you managed to wangle some additional shekels which it now a pleasure to share with the lady. Thereupon present her with a sawbuck or whatever you want to pad the deal with. Maybe what the attic yielded had absolutely no market value and your entire cash layout has now been all ventured money. Thus your conscience can be stabilized and your dreams can continue to be roseate.

The idea is this—and you can save yourself a consulting psychiatrist's fee by agreeing—at the next meeting of the Missionary Society or the Founding Females, or whatever that particular old gal attends, she'll publish the transaction among other proprietors of cob-webbed attics, detailing the pleasure of her reception of the kind gentleman who shared their mutual wealth after she'd thought she'd gypped him in the first place.

You can bet a phony, broken-circled Scott's U. S. No. 616 against a mint sheet of 404's it won't be long before you will be solicited by the holders of merchandise with which you can really plug holes in your debit columns, always bearing in mind the formula which brought them to you—the return visit, bearing welcome excess lucre.

There is one very definite must in this program and that is a more-than-passing familiarity with the material which might be exposed. It is definitely not for the novice. The ideal would be for the philatelist to team up with a bibliophile, or a skilled antiquarian, because these searches of long-laid caches are quite probable to turn up material of vast interest and value other than for the stamp collector. Every large library cherishes gems in print which have been saved for posterity through the understanding eyes of someone skilled in knowing at what he was looking.

And right there could be a theme to be explored in your search and adapted to circumstances, up-dated, you might say, to the discoveries of Biblical texts by the herdboys of Israel. What a loss, should they have been unrecognized and saved for all coming generations. That is, providing said generations aren't disintegrated by "fall-out"!

Panama And Canal Zone Announce Plans

The date of release of Panama's OAS issue is still undecided, according to Elmer S. Smith, Box 4782, Panama, Republic of Panama. That the set will be issued he is certain; the difficulty is that the printers have not yet completed their production of it.

Slated possibly for September release is a set of seven stamps plus a souvenir sheet to note the Brussels Fair. There is also some discussion, Mr. Smith reports, about issuing a 1c Child Welfare stamp for compulsory use on all letters.

In the Canal Zone a new 4c is slated for August 30 release. A regular, the blue green item will feature the "SS ANCON" of the Panama Line. A second adhesive, probably another 4-center, will appear later in the year to honor Theodore Roosevelt, while the current 3c and 6c stamped envelopes will be replaced by two sizes each of 4c and 7c values.

It is further rumored that the Zone will issue a new postal card "all its own". Heretofore it has used the U. S. postal cards with overprinted "CANAL ZONE".

"Smokey Bear" Seals Offered By Collector

With "Smokey Bear" being featured in the first day cancellation of the October 27 Forest Conservation stamp, D. A. Anderson, 1202 Foster Ave., College Station, Texas suggests that one of the popular "Smokey Bear" seals would make an unusual added feature for use on a first day cover on that day.

He reports that he has a supply of the current issue of these "Prevent Forest Fire" adhesives and will send a block free to anyone submitting a stamped, addressed envelope. He suggests that a comment on the requesting envelope would be appreciated, but does not require such franking.

Cachet To Mark 100th Anniversary Of Elkhart

The Elkhart, Ind. Stamp Club announces a special cacheted cover in celebration of the Elkhart Centennial. The engraved two-color cachet will pictorially represent Elkhart's 100 years of progress and each item will be franked with a suitable 4c commemorative.

Covers will be postmarked during centennial week September 12-20, and special requests for specific dates will be accepted if received in time.

Orders with remittance at 10c each will be accepted at anytime up to September 20. They should be sent to Charles M. Hudson, 1420 Bower St., Elkhart, Ind.

Notes From The Italian Area

Pierson Ostrow

San Marino will release a "Products of Agriculture" set on September 1, to coincide with the Riccione-San Marino Philatelic Congress. The issue will consist of ten stamps, of which the first five will be bicolored and the others multicolored. Preliminary photographic releases show heads of grain on the 15 Lire value, apples on the 25L., grapes on the 80L., and a head of corn on the 125L. high value. Other denominations will be 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 40L.

Italy is beginning to pin-point more closely the dates of coming issues. Thus, the Europa set will be placed on sale, if plans are followed through, on September 15. It will consist of a 25L. red brown and a 60L. blue. The first of the Naples Centenary issues will be out far earlier than had been planned — October 4. On November 3, the ill-conceived issue to celebrate the Italian victory over Austria in 1918 will make its appearance. There will probably be three values, 10, 15 and 25L. Uncertain rumor has it that December will see a stamp in honor of de Amicis.

San Marino will join in honoring the Naples Centenary, with two stamps to be placed on sale October 4. Denominations will be 25L. and 125L. The design will show a view of Naples plus reproductions of two of the 1858 Neapolitan stamps.

White Ace Ghana Album Is Available

The one-year-old Republic of Ghana is featured in a new set of White Ace Specialty Album pages just released by the Washington Press of Newark, N. J. This marks still another addition to the firm's line of colorful specialty albums covering the United States, Israel, Vatican City, United Nations, Canada and other nations of the world.

The Ghana pages are designed in symbolic color and tableau to blend with the other White Ace specialty pages. The border design brings out the feeling of independence which the people of peace-loving Ghana attained in an honorable way. This is tastefully done in blue, with a well designed page heading in blue, gold and green showing the coat-of-arms and native scenes. The body of the page is in black, with illustrations for all stamps, suitably frame-lined. Brief captions complete the presentation.

The pages are of the usual White Ace quality paper, with rounded corners and punched for three-ring binders. They are priced at 65c per set from most dealers or from the publishers at Newark 2, N. J. Matching blank pages are 75c per ten.

the bailiff at sittings of the royal court and of the assembly of the states of Jersey. The arms date from 1279, when King Edward I granted a public seal to Jersey.

The final stamp of the dozen was designed by John H. Nicholson for the Isle of Man. It shows the portrait with the "Three Legs of Man" in a shield in the top left-hand corner, bordered along the top and down both sides by a Celtic ring chain design.

The Legs of Man, armored and spurred, on a shield, are the arms of the ancient Kingdom of Man. The Legs are in the form in which they appear on the Manx Sword of State, the thirteenth-century weapon which is borne before the lieutenant governor at the annual open air Tynwald Assembly each year.

The ring chain pattern forming the ornamental panels in the borders is taken from decorative carvings on Manx runic crosses. This characteristic pattern dates from the Norse period in the island's history.

Stamps are available over the counter only in the respective districts, but any or all may be obtained as desired from the Divisional Controller, London Postal Region, E. C. & F. S. (C. & T. Section), King Edward St., London, EC 1, England. Orders must be accompanied by remittance in full, plus return postage and registration fees. Remittances may be made by international money order, bank draft or certified check, at the rate of $2.80 to the Pound Sterling.

KOKOMO MEETING

The annual bourse and exhibition of the Kokomo Stamp Club will be held September 13-14 at the Frances Hotel, Kokomo, Ind. Along with this regular stamp show will be a precancel round-up. This is the first precancel activity in Indiana since the joint meetings held in Huntington some live years ago.

NOTES

Gilbert W. Noble, publisher of the Official Bureau Precancel Catalog (formerly Hoover Bros.) intends to bring out printed album pages for the Wide and Narrow Prexy issues and the Defense and War issues plus the Playing card issues. Details later.

The "Nebraska News" mailed with 1c Liberties from Hyannis, Nebr. This is one of the clubs not affiliated with the PSS. The Nebraska count is 412 Towns and 641 Types. Contact Lon Hulén, 719 2nd St., Milford, Nebr. if interested in Nebraska precancels.

A mailing by the New Mexico club from Carrizozo, N. M. Contact Lillis Fisher 704 N. Lea Ave. Roswell, N. M. for this club.

And now another precanceled card from Valdez, Alaska. That's right! Mailed out by none other than the Kokomo Stamp Club. This calls attention to an August meeting and to their big fall show mentioned above. If advertising does it that club sure will soon be on the top.

THE PRECANCEL ISSUE

The July 28th Precancel issue of Linn's I believe was the best that has ever been recorded so far in any journal. In my opinion there was more sound advice and explanations of the various fields and workings of the precancel fraternity than has been in print to date.

If any reader is still in doubt about any article I will attempt to clear up any point that he or she might question. It was a good issue all the way around.

"Stamps For Investment"

The investment potential of the postage stamp exceeds that of almost every commodity, stock or bond, or real estate.

PLATE BLOCK THOUGHTS and COMMENTS

By: Morris X. Weiss
2806 W. Eastwood Ave.,
Chicago 25, Ill.

THE 1c WASHINGTON IN THE LIMELIGHT

These days, when a penny is so small and of so little value, it is really big news when the 1c stamp makes the headlines as being so much in demand. Chicago is one of the big cities in the United States and I imagine that what is happening there must also be taking place all over the entire country.

Only the other day post office officials declared that there were enough 1c stamps on hand to last eight months. These were intended to supplement old 2c, 3c, 4c, and 6c stamps on first-class and airmail letters to meet the new postage rates that took effect August 1st.

Everybody was very much surprised that on the very first day of this new rate the city was cleaned out entirely of 1c stamps. An urgent request had to be made to Washington for an immediate larger supply to meet the demand for this value as an aftermath to the new postal rates.

The alert plate block collector should be interested in this current development as it must surely affect him sooner than later. This demand for the 1c stamp will continue for a while before conditions will settle down to normal. Until then, millions and millions of 1-centers will be used up in the process.

Prior to August 1 very few 1c adhesives were used. Very few plate numbers have gone to press to satisfy the past normal requirements of this 1c value. What the future will mean to the 1c stamp is not now important, but for the present it appears quite certain small and large printings of many plate numbers that have been lying around dormant in warehouses will suddenly be whisked away in enormous quantities and scattered throughout the entire country.

In the postoffices visited in the last couple days, the lines that formed — mainly to procure the 1c stamps — appeared to be far greater than commonly seen around Christmas time. It seems almost that everyone has been trying to buy the 1c stamp as if none will ever be available again. A picture like that, in ten or more stations, almost makes a person think that this is an organized plan to buy out the last 1c stamp!

The fact remains that in the coming days many of the early plate numbers of the 1c Washington of the Liberty series may be consumed, and vanish out of sight. It is therefore a worthy point of interest to alert all serious plate block collectors of the Liberty series to try to complete all the numbers and positions needed their collections.

Many of the earlier 1c Washington plates may become at least elusive if not scarce. The use of the 1c item to augment the old rates will also bring about many new plate numbers which may be hastily printed and distributed at a faster rate than has been done in the past. The picture in the immediate future, for the 1c denomination, looks interesting to say the least.

Following are the plate numbers that have been assigned or printed, to date, on the 1c Washington "Liberty":

25030	25031	25032	25033
25281	25282	25326	25327
25361	25362	25370	25371
25378	25379	25677	25678

Recent News From The Crown Agents

The August 1 issue of the Crown Agents Stamp Bulletin, London, indicates that a new 4d value has been ordered from Waterlow & Sons, Ltd. for Bechuanaland. Of the same size and design of the current issue, it will be orange in color.

The language change from English to Sinhalese in Ceylon has resulted in corresponding changes on several stamps for that area. The First Anniversary of Independence set, 10c and 30c, notes the change; the 6c regular was released in London July 21, and the 35c and 50c in Ceylon July 15 and London the 29th.

The Anniversary set will be released August 31. It consists of a 10c value in blue, yellow, green, and red showing the Merdeka Stadium in Coronation Park, Kuala Lumpur, and a 30c blue, yellow and green depicting the Paramount Ruler of the area, Tuanku Abdul Rahman ibni Almarhum Tuanku Muhammad.

At the left is the silver mace "Chogan Alam" signifying his rule over the land and populace; on the other side the "Chogan Ugama" represents his spiritual power. Beneath his likeness is the "Kris Kerajaan" the blade of which is blended from the blades of eleven kris-kris (Malaya daggers) collected from the nine Malay States and two former Settlements. This emblem represents his united power and authority over all.

A new set of five (1, 2, 3, 6d; 1/-) has been ordered for Nigeria, and a new ultramarine and black 1/30 is being prepared for Somaliland. It will feature the Queen's portrait and the tomb of Sheikh Isaah at Mait.

Waterloo Plans Dairy Cattle Congress Cachet

The Waterloo, Iowa Chamber of Commerce will again sponsor a cachet during the 46th Annual National Dairy Cattle Congress to be held in Waterloo September 27-October 4.

Stamped (4c), addressed, unsealed and unstuffed covers should be forwarded to the Cachet Committee, Waterloo Chamber of Commerce, Waterloo, Iowa. Those received will bear the opening date unless received after that time.

25679	25680	25681	25682
25687	25688	25691	25692
25695	25696	25703	25704
25707	25708	25714	25715

25727	25728	25991	25992
	26063	26064

It is of interest to note that prior to the last two plate numbers that were assigned in April of 1958, there had been an eleven-month period since the previous two were designated. Note then how many new 1c stamps will be forthcoming, assigned and printed in the next few months.

8 Hungarian Flowers In Bloom August 12

Hungary issued its third set of Flower stamps August 12, consisting of four upright rectangles and four triangles. The former quartet is the 40 filler, brown and yellow, showing Doronicum Hungaricum; 60f., green and violet, Colchicum Arenarium; 1 Forint wine red and green, Helleborus Purpurascens; and 2F., olive green and yellow, Hermocallis Lilio-Asphodelis.

The triangles are 20f., brown violet and yellow, Linum Dolomiticum; 30f., blue, green and yellow, Kitaibelia Vitifolia; 2.50F., violet, blue and pink, Dianthus Collinus; and 3F., green, yellow and orange, Rosa Sancti Andreae.

The four triangle will be combined into a souvenir sheet to mark the IXth International Philatelic Congress at Brussels, "FIP", to be released September 9. There will be 75,000 sheets and 650,000 sets of the entire eight issued, according to the official Hungarian news release.

interesting combination of background facets. For, almost as if by a careful plan set up nearly a score of years ago, the new adhesive will constitute a junction for three "families" of commemoratives beginning with the Printing stamp of 1939.

It will mark the 50th anniversary of the founding of the world's first school of journalism — and journalism is a field which itself depends upon those arts represented by the Printing, Pulitzer, Bible, and Newsboy issues of earlier years.

FIRST

Freedom of the Press is also noted by the newcomer, and this calls to mind the "freedom" issues of the past — Emancipation, Four Freedoms, Suffrage, and Flushing. Finally, the matter of education brings recollections of the Columbia, Michigan State-Penn State, and Princeton emissions, not to mention the Teachers single of last year.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the Freedom of the Press stamp may send addressed envelopes to the postmaster at Columbia, Mo. with money order remittances to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed.

An enclosure of medium weight should be placed in each envelope and the flap either turned in or sealed. The outside envelope to the postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers Freedom of the Press Stamp". This is a vertical stamp and envelopes should be addressed in the lower left corner, particularly when blocks are desired.

The official first day cover has been prepared by the School of Journalism and is available only from that source. Prof. Robert W. Haverfield of the first day committee states that this official item has an engraved cachet and that each envelope has a suitable filler on which is a brief history of the school. These covers are 20c each, 6 for $1, from Prof. Haverfield, University of Missouri, School of Journalism, Columbia, Mo. The official cachet will not be applied to covers submitted by collectors.

The first day cancellation at Columbia will portray the famous six columns on the campus of the University of Missouri.

A Classic Study In A Popular Field
"The Paid Markings on the 3c U.S. Stamp of 1861"

by George W. Linn

As the title indicates, this study is confined to one stamp, the 3c of 1861, and one type of cancellation, the word "PAID" with or without other ornamentation. In the more than 100 such marks, Mr. Linn presents 90, with their pedigrees and places of use, not previously recorded. So it can be seen that quite a bit of original research went into the writing.

The author has separated the PAID types into twelve different categories depending on their appearance. Each is illustrated, fully described, with the known towns of use listed.

An introductory chapter instructs the reader in an approach to the collecting of postmarks and printing terms and practices. With each book comes four sheets on which all the cancels are printed. These can be cut from the sheet and placed in the album with a cover or stamp as an illustration of the type which the item bears.

THERE ARE 104 PAGES.

college was due largely to the efforts of Walter Williams, former editor of the Columbia, Mo., "Herald" and first dean of the University of Missouri's School of Journalism. It was he who canceled out, one by one, the most commonly voiced objections.

Said the "Detroit Free Press": "Only a newspaper office can train newspaper men."

Thomas Jefferson's original tombstone was removed many years ago to the campus of the University of Missouri, in tribute to the fact that this was the first state university established in the Louisiana Purchase territory. Jefferson, himself, designed the marker and wrote the epitaph. The plate, or tablet, is now kept in a strong-room, but part of the chiseled inscription on the stone is still legible: "BORN APRIL 2 / 1743 O S / DIED JULY 4, 1826". April 2, Old Style, corresponds to April 13 by modern reckoning.

Dean Williams agreed. The School would publish a competitive daily newspaper of general circulation (not a college paper), and journalism students would carry out regular assignments in all departments.

The Associated Press stepped in and promised to run a free news wire to the School; a printing press and a linotype machine were pledged by their manufacturers.

Said the "Kansas City Journal": "It is as absurd to expect a college professor to make a newspaper man as to expect a metaphysician to turn out a proficient carpenter."

Dean Williams agreed again. "The University of Missouri School of Journalism does not intend to make journalists," he said. "It could not do so if it desired. It can, however, train for journalism, and this is the purpose of its establishment."

The first School of Journalism faculty, therefore, was composed of three veteran newspaper men: Dean Williams, for 19 years editor of the Columbia, Mo., "Herald"; Silas Bent, of the "St. Louis Post-Dispatch"; and Charles G. Ross, of the "St. Louis Republic".

Every one of today's 32 faculty members, from Dean Earl English to the most recently appointed professor, has it one time earned his living in professional journalism.

A third objection, that there was danger of neglecting the elements of a liberal education, was met by requiring that all journalism students complete at least three years of basic academic study, including history, economics, government, foreign language, English literature, and certain social and physical sciences.

It is on this solid foundation that student journalists at the University of Missouri build their professional training. Only after these basic requirements have been met are students permitted to enroll in one of the following sequences: News-Editorial, Advertising and Production, Magazine Writing, Photo-Journalism, Radio-Television, Weekly and Small Daily Newspapers, Agricultural Journalism, and Medical Writing.

Since its founding 50 years ago, more than 7,000 School of Journalism graduates have left the Missouri campus and taken up positions in the broad field of public communications. These men and women—on newspaper and magazine staffs, in radio, public relations, advertising, and television—are to be found in every part of the world. And their journalistic achievements reflect creditably on the academic and professional training they received.

Said the "Chicago Daily Tribune" for February 22, 1958:

"In some academic circles it is the fashion to look down upon colleges of journalism as mere vocational schools. The best answer to such critics is to list the distinguished graduates of Missouri and other leading schools of journalism. Now a days these schools require students to carry journalism courses in addition to a regular liberal arts curriculum and they encourage their students to believe that the best journalists are those who are learned in many fields."

Last year's enrollment figures for 99 schools and departments of journalism show the University of Missouri in first place with 280 journalism students of junior, senior and graduate standing.

The physical plant at Missouri is important, for it is here that young journalists-to-be are introduced, at a working level, to every department of a complete and self-supporting, small city daily newspaper of general circulation, "The Columbia Missourian."

The first issue of this newspaper rolled off the press the same day the School of Journalism began classes 50 years ago. Since that time, state funds have never been used to finance the operation of "The Missourian".

Through its subscriptions and advertising, it has paid its own way. Then, as now, the skilled people in the mechanical and business departments were paid professionals. News stories, features and advertising for today's "Missourian" are gathered, written and edited by students working under professors whose college degrees have been enhanced by long experience as working newspaper men.

In the basement of the journalism unit building is a 16-page Duplex tubular press, capable of printing 24,000 newspapers an hour. There are six linotype machines (two of which have typesetter equipment), a Ludlow machine, a complete stock of type for daily use and an Elrod machine. Student reporters, editorial writers, feature writers and advertising majors turn out their copy on 100 typewriters.

Photo-journalism majors, using the School's eight dark rooms, process many of the pictures used in "The Missourian". National and international events are covered pictorially by the United Press 24-hour Telephoto service.

There is a complete engraving plant, featuring a Fairchild Scan-a-Graver and conventional plate-making equipment. State, national and foreign news flows into the School's news room via full-leased Associated Press and United Press wire services.

KOMU-TV (NBC-ABC), operated by the University, is one of the few commercial television stations in the world run by an educational institution. It is the only commercial television station where students gain practical experience in television news writing and processing, newsreel photography, station management, programming and advertising. Here, too, an experienced professional staff works closely with the students.

Radio news processing and broadcasting by students is done through the facilities of radio station KFRU, Columbia, Mo.

Recognizing its leadership in journalism education, the U.S. Department of State has sponsored refresher courses at Missouri's School of Journalism for editors, broadcasters and other public communications personnel from all over the world.

Further government recognition came several months ago when Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced that a commemorative stamp honoring Journalism and Freedom of the Press would be issued September 22 on the 50th anniversary of the founding of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri.

A special team of postal employees will go to Columbia to help the local post office handle the first day release. The press run for this issue is expected to be between 120,000,000 and 140,000,000.

Beginning in August 1958, and continuing through May 1959, the School of Journalism has planned
